2006 user group meeting gets positive feedback

The eccos pro user group meeting which took place on 16 and 17 November 2006 at the CongressPark in Wolfsburg, Germany, was very positively received by the overwhelming majority of participants.

136 users from 65 leisure facilities in Germany and abroad evaluated the varied mix of informative workshops, practical talks and clear presentations with grades of either very good or good.

In her presentation "Successful economics in the health and fitness industry", Ute Rührig, managing director of Quality Spa GmbH struck a chord identifying ways of developing plans to increase profits, planning spaces, and service quality in the spa sector. Swimming pool presentations given by Rainer Braun and Diana Pätzold from AQUAagentur H2O fun events® had the same impact.

A further highlight was the talk given by Dr Klaus Batz, managing director of EWA, the European Waterpark Association, who spoke on the subject of "Making new from old", who dazzled his listeners with a whole range of ideas on how facilities in the future can be made more attractive with little expenditure of time, effort or money.

The 13 well-known supplier industry exhibitors were always available with their expert advice, providing individual solutions.

People particularly praised the intensive workshops where many tips and tricks were shared regarding the practical use of both software and hardware.

According to the evaluation forms completed by participants, the "good and very intensive conversations" and the "exchange of problem-solving information" with users, exhibitors, presenters and the team from eccos pro, all in a friendly and relaxed atmosphere, made a lasting impression.

We thank our exhibitors without whose support an exhibition of this size would not have been possible.
